Fr. William F. Ashley meeting with Alfons M. Cardinal Stickler at his residence in Rome (June, 2001)

Dear friend of Our Lady,

In last month's newsletter I had occasion to present to you a number of suggestions which were submitted to the Holy See in favor of the amelioration of the situation regarding the Society of St Pius X. It is difficult to know how well negotiations are going, especially given the conflicting reports in the press. Suffice it to say, all of us should be praying that a total reconciliation take place for the good of the Church, and the salvation of souls.

Just recently many of you have heard of a meeting which took place at the Monastery of Fontgombault, in France, under the chairmanship of His Eminence, Joseph Cardinal Ratzinger, prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith and member of the Pontifical Commission "Ecclesia Dei". The meeting was convened to take a look at the situation of the traditional liturgy of 1962, as well as that of the new rite.

While I do not have a transcript of any of the talks (I hope they will be available in the future), the excerpts given from one of them caught my eye: it was the presentation of one of the speakers. In a rather thorough talk he mentioned, among other things, the offer made by the Holy See to establish an Apostolic Administration for the oversight of the traditional rites throughout the world. In his talk, he objected to the proposal, saying it would “ghettoize” the traditional rites, that is push them in to a ghetto. Personally, I believe that the establishment of such a jurisdiction would increase the availability of the classical liturgy and open the door to the establishment of numerous other religious congregations, associations of the faithful, societies of Apostolic Life, sodalities, third orders, etc., etc., etc. To think that the establishment of such a jurisdiction would reduce the ancient rite to a ghetto is tantamount to saying that the Eastern Rites of the Catholic Church, have been reduced to such a state. As we know, the fact that they have their own jurisdictions has enabled them to grow and at the same time, to protect the integrity of their respective liturgies. One should also remember that the establishment of a separate jurisdiction would allow it to establish new parishes and communities, while at the same time continuing the present positive developments in the local dioceses, entering in to agreements with them to continue present arrangements for the use of churches and other facilities for the ancient rite. Anyone, especially priests and religious, who have been engaged in the establishment of new communities in the traditional rite, cannot fail to realize what a blessing it would be to have a jurisdiction which would be overall favorable to such new developments. One final point on this matter: such a jurisdiction does not have to be a permanent reality—when it’s usefulness has passed, and a general restoration has been effected, it’s existence would no longer be necessary.

A few weeks ago, I had occasion to attend The Church Teaches Forum in Louisville, Kentucky. I was particularly pleased to attend because Edward Cardinal Gagnon, was the keynote speaker. He ordained me to the sacred priesthood at St. Peter’s Basilica at the Vatican, almost 25 years ago (April 21, 1977). It was good to visit with him. I was amused by his remark to a few people at the conference when he said to them: You see this “young man”, I ordained him to the priesthood 25 years ago. Among the ideas that he presented in his speech that stand out in my mind, was his exhortation that diocesan bishops be generous in welcoming different communities and associations into their dioceses. He referred to it as an exquisite form of charity towards others. He may well have been thinking of the negotiations with the Society of St. Pius X (in which he was involved more than 10 years ago). Anyway it was good to see him. AD MULTOS ANNOS. Another person deserves special mention, the late Fr. John Hardon, SJ, in whose honor this conference was convened. A card was distributed with a prayer composed by Cardinal Gagnon, asking for the glorification of this great servant of God. By the way, let us pray that the cause for the beatification and canonization of Bishop Fulton Sheen and Dr. Dietrich von Hildebrand might not be too far off.

Finally let me remind you, even though it seems early, that the month of the Holy Souls in Purgatory is not too far off. Don’t forget the daily plenary indulgence for a visit to a cemetery any and each day from November 1st to 8th. Also there is a plenary indulgence applicable to the holy souls for visiting a church on All Souls Day. You might want to include any Mass intentions for November with the return envelope enclosed with this newsletter.

Time and space do not allow me to share more with you. You are remembered in

From—Circular Letter concerning the integ- rity of the Sacrament of Penance

Congregation for Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments, 20 March, in the Great Jubilee of the Year 2000

2. The divine constitution of the Sacrament of Penance requires each penitent to confess to a priest all mortal sins, as well as any specifying moral circumstances that he remembers after a diligent examination of conscience. For this reason the Code of Canon Law states clearly that "individual and integral confession and absolution is the sole ordinary means by which a member of the faithful who is conscious of mortal sin is reconciled with God and with the Church. Physical or moral impossibility alone excuses from such confession". In specifying this obligation, the Church has insistently reiterated that "all the faithful who have reached the age of discretion are bound faithfully to confess their mortal sins at least once a year". "Energetic efforts are to be made to avoid any risk that this traditional practice of the Sacrament of Penance fall into disuse." Indeed, in this Jubilee Year Catholics are called in a particular way "to encounter anew the uniquely transforming experience that is individual, integral confession and absolution". In accord with the law and practice of the Church, the faithful must orally confess their sins (auricular confession), except in cases of true physical or moral impossibility (e.g., extreme illness or physical condition inhibiting speech, speech impediment, etc.). This disposition would exclude communal celebrations of the sacrament in which penitents are invited to present a written list of sins to the priest confessor. It should be noted that such innovations also risk compromising the inviolable seal of sacramental confession.

6. The Holy Father has pointed to the personal nature of sin, conversion, forgiveness and reconciliation as the reason why the Rite of Reconciliation of several penitents with individual confession and absolution "demands the personal confession of sins and individual absolution". Since individual and integral confession of sins is not only an obligation "but also an inviolable and inalienable right" of the faithful, any innovation which would interfere with their fulfillment of this obligation, such as when penitents are invited or otherwise encouraged to name just one sin or to name a representative sin, is to be eliminated.

Acta Sanctæ Sedis

Musicæ Sacræ (On Sacred Music)

Encyclical of the Servant of God, Pope Pius XII - December 25, 1955

Part - VI

49 This should be done especially at the time when catechetical instruction is being given to the Christian people. This may be done more easily and readily in this age of ours than was possible in times past, because translations of the liturgical texts into the vernacular tongues and explanations of these texts in books and pamphlets are available. These works, produced in almost every country by learned writers, can effectively help and enlighten the faithful to understand and share in what is said by the sacred ministers in the Latin language.

50 It is quite obvious that what We have said briefly here about Gregorian chant applies mainly to the Latin Roman Rite of the Church. It can also, however, be applied to a certain extent to the liturgical chants of other rites--either to those of the West, such as the Ambrosian, Gallican or Mozarabic, or to the various eastern rites.

51 For as all of these display in their liturgical ceremonies and formulas of prayer the marvelous abundance of the Church, they also, in their various liturgical chants, preserve treasures which must be guarded and defended to prevent not only their complete disappearance, but also any partial loss or distortion.

52 Among the oldest and most outstanding monuments of sacred music the liturgical chants of the different eastern rites hold a highly important place. Some of the melodies of these chants, modified in accordance with the character of the Latin liturgy, had a great influence on the composition of the musical works of the Western Church itself. It is Our hope that the selection of sacred eastern rite hymns--which the Pontifical Institute of Oriental Studies, with the help of the Pontifical Institute of Sacred Music, is busily working to complete--will achieve good doctrinal and practical results. Thus eastern rite seminarians, well trained in sacred chant, can make a significant contribution to enhancing the beauty of God's house after they have been ordained priests.

53 It is not Our intention in what We have just said in praise and commendation of the Gregorian chant to exclude sacred polyphonic music from the rites of the Church. If this polyphonic music is endowed with the proper qualities, it can be of great help in increasing the magnificence of divine worship and of moving the faithful to religious dispositions. Everyone certainly knows that many polyphonic compositions, especially those that date from the 16th century, have an artistic purity and richness of melody which render them completely worthy of accompanying and beautifying the Church's sacred rites.

54 Although over the course of the centuries genuine polyphonic art gradually declined and profane melodies often crept into it, during recent decades the indefatigable labors of experts have brought about a restoration. The works of the old composers have been carefully studied and proposed as models to be imitated and rivaled by modern composers.

55 So it is that in the basilicas, cathedrals and churches of religious communities these magnificent works of the old masters and the polyphonic compositions of more recent musicians can be performed, contributing greatly to the beauty of the sacred rite. Likewise We know that simpler but genuinely artistic polyphonic compositions are often sung even in smaller churches.

56 The Church favors all these enterprises. As Our predecessor of immortal memory, St. Pius X, says, the Church "unceasingly encourages and favors the progress of the arts, admitting for religious use all the good and the beautiful that the mind of man has discovered over the course of the centuries, but always respecting the liturgical laws".

57 These laws warn that great prudence and care should be used in this serious matter in order to keep out of churches polyphonic music which, because of its heavy and bombastic style, might obscure the sacred words of the liturgy by a kind of exaggeration, interfere with the conduct of the liturgical service or, finally, lower the skill and competence of the singers to the disadvantage of sacred worship.

Book Reviews & Recommended Reading

Missale Romanum 1962—Study Edition

Latin with Introductions in Italian and English, 1,100 pages, paperback, 7½"x5¼"x1½"

The perfect gift for any traditionally minded priest or seminarian or anyone interested in becoming better acquainted with the 1962 Altar Missal. This book is a complete reproduction of the 1962 Altar Missal in paperback form. Designed to be a study edition of the 1962 Altar Missal. However, it can easily be adapted for use as a traveling Altar Missal or for use at private Masses. This book would also make a great review text to have in the sacristy. One should get a copy of this Study Edition to give to every priest he know that shows any interest in traditional Catholicism, as having an actual copy of the traditional Altar Missal may be just the spark needed to open him to the beauty of the traditional Mass.

Latin with Introductions in Italian and English, 620 pages, paperback, 9½"x6¾"x1¼"

A great companion to the Missale Romanum 1962—Study Edition. This book contains a complete reproduction of the traditional Pontificale in paperback form, providing the texts for the rite of Confirmation, ordinations for all the minor and major orders, as well as many other rites and ceremonies proper to the office of a bishop.

No traditional chapel or Latin Mass community (or those working to start one up) should be without these invaluable reference texts.

A 20% discount is available on both of these books for priests and seminarians.

Video—Solemn High Mass of the Assumption (Length: 86 minutes)

This video presents the Solemn High Mass celebrated by Fr. William F. Ashley on August 15, 2000, the Feast of the Assumption at Our Lady's Chapel in Berlin, NJ. Celebrant & Homilist: Fr. William F. Ashley; Deacon: Fr. Robert Pasley; Subdeacon: Mr. David Schillon; Masters of Ceremonies: Mr. John Blonski & Mr. Theodore Schwalm. This Mass was also the occasion of the world premiere of the Missa Brevis Millenniumis, by Timothy McDonnell, a Mass encapsulating, in its several parts, the various styles used by composers of the past millennium (1001-2000 A.D.).

From the Maxims of St. Philip Neri

Our Blessed Lady is the dispenser of all the favors which the goodness of God concedes to the sons of Adam.

Whenever we do a good work, and somebody else takes the credit for it, we ought to rejoice, and acknowledge it as a gift from God. Anyhow, we ought not to be sorry, because if others diminish our glory before men, we shall recover it with all the more honor before God.

Nothing is more dangerous for beginners in the spiritual life, than to wish to play the master, and to guide and convert others.

He who works purely for the love of God, desires nothing but His honor, and thus is ready in every thing either to act or not to act, and that not in indifferent matters only, but even in good ones; and he is always resigned to the Will of God.

Opus Mariae Mediatricis

2001 - Fund Drive

Only YOU can make the difference in making Opus Mariae Mediatricis a reality! It is the sacrifice YOU are willing to make -- one less carton of cigarettes, one less dinner out, one less movie rental -- that will make the difference. The Cathedrals of antiquity were built stone by stone by the pious men and women of the times...it is not mortar and stone that we need today, but the funds to help train young men for the Traditional Priesthood by supporting their seminary studies! If each person would donate a small amount, the cumulative effect would be AWESOME!!! Let us pull together in this great effort to honor God Who made us and continues to love us into existence every day of our lives. We are depending on YOU to make our dream a reality.
